Short or Long Term Lodging Conditions

1. The Balmy Llama Farm (hereafter called BLF) will retain waste pellets and any brushings from each lodger during its stay.
2. Wherever possible llama(s) will be returned home clean and brushed.
3. BLF will use its best endeavours to ensure that female lodgers do not 'mingle' with any intact males however, should any accidental mingling result in an issue, if required BLF will collect the unfortunate issue once weaned, at no cost to the owner, or BLF.
4. In the event of any incident or accident the owners will be contacted immediately but BLF will also engage the services of a vet in the interest of the animal's welfare. Detailed incident reports will be made available.
5. If BLF is booked to return lodger(s) at an agreed time but is unable to do so because of such things as accident, incident, illness, vehicle breakdown, etc, the owner will be informed and arrangements made to return the lodger(s) at the earliest opportunity, at no additional cost to the owner.
6. If BLF is booked to return the lodger(s) but on arrival is unable to hand them over because the owner is not available, is uncontactable, or any other owner-related reason, BLF will assume temporary ownership of any and all of the lodger(s) immediately. Unless BLF can make contact with the owner within 7 days of that wasted journey, to make further arrangements, BLF will assume permanent and irrevocable ownership of those llama(s).
7. BLF reserve the right to charge an owner for a wasted journey (see No 6) at a rate of £1.50 per llama per mile travelled in both legs of the journey together with any overstay fee (see No 8).
8. A charge of £15 per overstayed day per llama will be incurred on either a short or long-term term lodging if the owner fails to collect on the booked day. If BLF has not been contacted by owner during the first day of overstay, BLF will immediately assume temporary ownership of the llama(s). That ownership will be only be relinquished on full payment of all and any overdue charges. Ownership of those lodgers will pass permanently and irrevocably to BLF after 14 days of overstay if there has been no contact with the owner.
9. BLF reserve the right to pursue any owner for any outstanding payments incurred through any of the activities mentioned above through the Small Claims Court.
10. Llamas can be collected from you, or you can deliver them to a Balmy Llama Farm representative at an agreed location in Lancashire, but please contact us first so that appropriate collection/reception arrangements can be made.
11. NB If you reside outside of the United Kingdom, please contact us to establish the costs involved in the rescue.

Relocation conditions

1. The Balmy Llama Farm (hereafter called BLF) will collect and deliver the listed llamas in accordance with instructions.
2. If BLF is booked to collect or deliver at an agreed time but is unable to do so because of such things as accident, incident, illness, vehicle breakdown, etc, the contractor (carer/owner) will be informed and arrangements made to retry the relocation at the earliest opportunity, at no additional cost.
3. If BLF is booked to collect or deliver the llama(s) but on arrival is unable to collect/deliver because the contractor (carer/owner) is not available, is uncontactable, or any other non-BLF reason, BLF will assume temporary ownership of any and all of the llama(s) in its care immediately. Unless BLF can make contact with the contractor (carer/owner) within 7 days of that wasted journey, to make further arrangements, BLF will assume permanent and irrevocable ownership of those llama(s) in its care.
4. BLF reserve the right to charge a contractor (carer/owner) for a wasted journey at a rate of £1.50 per llama per mile travelled in both legs of the journey together with any lodging fee (£15 per day).
5. BLF reserve the right to pursue any owner for any outstanding payments incurred through any of the activities mentioned above through the Small Claims Court.
6. It would be useful if the llama(s) could be accompanied by any previous history, documentary evidence, head-collars, equipment or feed, if available, to make their stay more comfortable.

Re-homing conditions

1. Unwanted llamas can be collected from your premises, or you can deliver them to a Balmy Llama Farm representative at an agreed location in Lancashire.
 2. The llama(s) have no monetary value and re-homing is being solely undertaken in the interest of the animal and its welfare.
 3. The llama(s) should be accompanied by any previous history, documentary evidence, head-collars, equipment and feed, if available.
 4. The ownership of any unwanted llama(s) will be immediately and irrevocably transferred to the Balmy Llama Farm at the moment of placing the llama(s) in our trailer.
 5. No further correspondence or communication will occur once ownership has transferred.
 6. Transportation costs are to be paid in advance as a gesture of goodwill but may be repaid to the original owner in cases of severe hardship, subject to any deductions.
 7. Unregistered, re-homed llamas will be registered by BLF with the British Llama Society
